Building A Greater Sudbury

MEMBER OF THE MONTH

Over the past ten years, residential, commercial, industrial and municipal waste disposal regulations have changed dramatically with tighter controls designed to better protect the health of people and the environment. With a myriad of new rules it is difficult to keep abreast of the regulatory changes, but that is where the professionals at Canadian Shield Consultants Agency can offer their expertise offering turn-key solutions to waste water and sewage systems for existing properties, new construction projects and landfill leachate and mining waste water management.

Created in 1993, Canadian Shield Consultants Agency operates under the direction of Operations Manager and CEO, Gerry Dignard and his team of certified professionals who understand every aspect of waste disposal for property owners. Canadian Shield Consultants is the only company in Canada that offers such a diverse range of design, consulting and implementation services that focus specifically on the management of waste water and sewage disposal. The innovative company's broad scope of inspection and consulting services are in demand by architects, engineers and property owners all across Ontario and abroad.

Canadian Shield Consultants Agency is Canada's only full service waste water, sewage and soil specialist. Shown are Justin Dignard - Head Designer & Project Supervisor (in truck) and Gerry Dignard - Operations Manager.

In addition to providing turn-key solutions to property waste, ground water and sewage control, Canadian Shield Consultants Agency also provides soil analysis, ground water testing, erosion control of soil and complete property audits for insurance companies and property owners. Recently the company began providing septic components, peat-based filtrations systems, field bed installations and a revolutionary new design of EZflow Drain Systems that thanks to their flexible design and non-degradable manufacture, has already made traditional weeping tiles a thing of the past.

As a proud member of the Sudbury & District Home Builders' Association, Canadian Shield Consultants Agency is a wonderful example of the high standards of excellence that members offer to consumers looking for excellence in their new and existing residential property. When it comes to "Going With The Flow" there is no other company in Canada that can duplicate the services and products that Canadian Shield Consultants Agency offers.
