ROSS WINDOWS & DOORS

One of the easiest, most energy-efficiency upgrades that a homeowner can make to their house is newer windows and doors. Aside from the energy savings new windows and doors add, they also provide a more modern look while adding significant resale value to any home. Finding a qualified contractor who offers reputable service and high quality products is the first step in the process and many Greater Sudburians turn to Garry Spry of Ross Windows & Doors who brings over 25 years of friendly experience right to your home.

Garry Spry is the factory representative for Ross Window & Doors, which are made-to-order in the company's Parry Sound Plant where the company employs over 100 workers specializing in custom windows and doors. Ross Windows is known throughout the industry for their high performance efficiency, which far exceeds all government and industry standards. In addition to their wide variety of stock products, the company has added a facility that offers custom wood millwork for the ultimate in unique windows and doors. When it comes to one-stop shopping for windows and doors, Ross is one of the most respected names in the industry.

As the local factory representative, Spry offers the full line of products from Ross including casement, awning, slider, bay and bow windows which are made of either PVC or wood and if a custom shape fits your design plans, Ross Windows can build whatever shape and size you desire. For residential door upgrades, Ross designs and builds steel and wood entrance doors, sliding patio doors and even french doors for the elegant, interior touch. Whatever your requirements in high quality windows and doors, Garry Spry and Ross Windows & Doors can build and install for you.

As a member of The Sudbury and District Home Builders' Association for the past six years, Garry Spry recognizes the exemplary skill and knowledge that the members provide consumers, in addition to their professionalism and commitment to improving the local building and home renovation industry. ## Environmentally RESPONSIBLE PRODUCTS

Today's new homes show clearly that environmental responsibility, energy efficiency and healthy indoor living go hand in hand with comfort, convenience and design.

Professional new home builders are using advanced design, materials and construction techniques to provide home buyers with the widest range of Eco Energy Efficiency Products.

For older homes, most renovations usually present many opportunities to include energy efficiency improvements.

And this is the time when these improvements will cost you the least as you can "piggy-back" them on other renovation work.

Some improvements may qualify for a rebate.

Our members, comprised of builders, renovators, trade contractors, suppliers, manufacturers and home related services, each a professional in their own field are there to help you make the right choices - whether it's a new home or an older home requiring a retro-fit.
